All courses used to fulfill general education requirements should specify the specific general education student learning outcomes that are relevant to the course.

WNC students may select a course of study which enables them to complete some or all of the lower division requirements for a four-year degree from the list of transfer programs at the University of Nevada, Reno, University of Nevada, Las Vegas, Nevada State College or other schools. Recent surveys of WNC students show they have transferred to colleges throughout the country including: UNR; UNLV; Nevada State College; Southern Utah University; University of New Mexico; Arizona State University; California State University, Sacramento; University of California at Berkeley; University of Kentucky; University of Southern California; Truckee Meadows Community College; University of Phoenix; Cosumnes River College-Los Rios; Lake Tahoe Community College; Great Basin College, Salt Lake Community College, and many more.

Every year, large numbers of WNC students successfully transfer to other schools. Each school has its own specific requirements and recommended electives for its various degrees. Community college students who plan to transfer to the University of Nevada, Reno, University of Nevada, Las Vegas or Nevada State College and who did not complete the university entrance requirements in high school must complete a minimum of 24 transferable units with a minimum 2.5 grade point average. Students who earn an Associate of Arts or Associate of Science degree will be admitted to an NSHE university or state college regardless of their grade point average.

CURTIS BLACKWELL
new ambitions... looking ahead

After working for two decades in the fulfillment of government defense contracts, Curtis Blackwell’s search for a new profession took him in many directions. Since his aerospace career ended, Blackwell has worked in landscaping, construction and retail for the past 10 years.

A visit to the WNC Douglas campus in the fall of 2010, however, changed his career thinking. Looking for information about a local Toastmasters International club, Blackwell soon realized that going back to school was in his best interest.

"I was unemployed, evicted from my apartment and without transportation," Blackwell said. "I wandered onto the campus to see if I could find a Toastmasters meeting in the area because I wanted to pursue public speaking. The staff asked if I was a student; I replied that I was not. They immediately signed me up, and I began attending WNC one week later. I have gratefully attended ever since."

Now the Gardnerville resident has an interest in public service and is working toward his Associate of Arts degree at WNC with a focus on communications and political science. Since enrolling at WNC, Blackwell has become part of the Associated Students of Western Nevada, served as a student representative, and will serve as the student body President during 2012-2013. He has also landed an internship with the Builders Association of Northern Nevada, and maintained a 4.0 grade-point average. Blackwell is a member of the Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society, and has arranged an internship at the Nevada State Legislature for the spring of 2013.

"We have here at Western Nevada College the best faculty and professors combined with outstanding students", he said. "Taken together, I believe that this makes Western Nevada College the best college in the state of Nevada."

Upon graduating from WNC, Blackwell intends to transfer to the University of Nevada, Reno to pursue a bachelor’s degree in public administration or international affairs. "My goal is to serve the public and eventually run for public office," he said.
The Associate of Arts degree is primarily for students planning to transfer with junior standing to a four-year college or university for a baccalaureate degree. Satisfactory completion of an AA degree guarantees completion of the lower division general education requirements at UNR, UNLV or NSC. Students intending to transfer to other schools should see a counselor or follow the catalog of the transfer school.

Programs and areas of study offered at WNC include:

- Criminal Justice
- Deaf Studies

BRITTANY ESPOSITO

The mentoring of an older sister, and the desire to be a role model to a younger sibling helped inspire Brittany Esposito to attend Western Nevada College. Esposito, who is pursuing an Associate of Arts degree at the Fallon Campus, enrolled at WNC after encouragement from sister Nicole.

"She graduated from WNC with her AA almost two years ago and encouraged me to take courses," Esposito said. "I chose WNC because it was convenient, close to home, and staff and instructors were friendly and willing to answer my initial questions."

Esposito said she feels a responsibility to complete her degree. "I come from a large family," said Esposito, who graduated from Churchill County High School in 2006. "I want to show my little sisters that with a little hard work and effort, anyone can successfully graduate college. I want to prove to my friends and family that even though we weren’t rich growing up, it is possible to make something of myself," Esposito said.

In addition to working toward her AA degree, Esposito is serving as a support specialist on the Fallon campus. "I do any task that is required as a secretary," she said. "I love helping students follow through with the necessary steps to begin college."

Her own college progression also is gratifying. "The knowledge I have gained has been the most uplifting aspect of attending college," she said. "I know I am learning to help myself succeed in the future."

Esposito is undecided on a field of study but several careers intrigue her. "Teaching young children, criminal justice work and business ventures are all interests."

Bachelor of Technology

APPLIED BACCALAUREATE DEGREE IN CONSTRUCTION MANAGEMENT

The Bachelor of Technology degree in Construction Management offers associate degree students, new students and skilled workers an educational route toward a career as a construction manager or supervisor. The 128-credit program combines knowledge in construction methods, planning and project management with business and supervisory skills. This program allows those who have completed an associate degree in construction technology to progress academically and earn a bachelor’s degree. It also allows those already working in the construction field to enroll in an applicable baccalaureate degree program and expand career advancement possibilities. Students must meet with a counselor and be admitted into the program.

Randy Contreras pinpointed a profession even before he entered college. Contreras started working for Canyon Creek Construction during his senior year at Dayton High School, leading to his enrollment at Western Nevada College so he could study construction management.

“Growing up in a family who had never been in college, I always wanted to push myself,” Contreras said. “I wanted it so bad, and WNC was where I was going to go.”

Watching his dad’s involvement in construction work steered Contreras into the profession. Working through his senior year at high school, Contreras became close with the owner of Canyon Creek Construction in Carson City.

“The owner found out my interest in construction and brought me in, and I started doing miscellaneous paperwork in the office and eventually became a project administrator,” Contreras said. He began his formal training in construction management at WNC, with hopes of one day operating his own general contracting business.

“This is a great community setting, and this would be a great headquarters for the office,” Contreras said.

He plans to pursue a master’s degree in construction management after graduating from WNC in May 2013, and is working full-time for Intermountain Slurry Seal, a subsidiary of Granite Construction, in Reno.

Contreras received his Associate of Arts degree from WNC in 2010 and now is closing in on his Bachelor of Technology degree in Construction Management. Contreras’ involvement and passion for his field is evident. He participated in the Associated Schools of Construction Region VI competition and has applied his construction expertise on campus by improving a screening wall at the Jack C. Davis Observatory.

NURSING PROGRAM
Associate of Applied Science

WNC’s Associate Degree Nursing Program is intended for students seeking a career as a registered nurse. The curriculum is sequenced and progresses in complexity. It integrates knowledge from the bio/psycho/social sciences, and humanities and is intended to prepare graduates to pass the national licensure examination (NCLEX-RN) and to function as registered nurses in diverse care settings. Upon completion of the Associate Degree Nursing Program, students will be awarded an Associate of Applied Science degree. Graduates are eligible to sit for the NCLEX-RN. The nursing program is approved by the Nevada State Board of Nursing and is accredited by the National League for Nursing Accrediting Commission, 3343 Peachtree Road NE, Suite 500, Atlanta, GA 30326, ph: 404-975-5000. Applicants are advised that eligibility for licensure may be affected by the existence of a criminal record, a history of alcohol or drug abuse, and mental or physical illness that may interfere with the practice of nursing. Applicants are encouraged to directly contact the Nevada State Board of Nursing at 1-775-687-7700 should there be a concern regarding eligibility for licensure. Applicants may also use the NSBN link found on the Nursing & Allied Health web page for information regarding how the board processes applicant information and identifies convictions/situations under which the NSBN will deny application for licensure. A limited number of qualified students are admitted as first semester students utilizing the selection criteria outlined below. The nursing program requires that pre-and co-requisite courses be completed with a grade of ‘C’ or better (a C- or lower will not be accepted). Students admitted to the program are required to attend mandatory orientation sessions scheduled for late spring or early summer and prior to the start of classes.

MANAGE YOUR TIME WISELY...

A 3-credit/unit class requires three hours of in-class time per week (a 4-credit/unit class requires four hours in class per week). For every one hour you spend in class, you should set aside a minimum of two extra hours of study time outside of class (to do the reading, study for tests, etc).

If I take _____ credits/units, then I should expect to spend _____ x 3 = _____ hours per week in class and studying.

Add this number of hours to the number of hours you are working, eating, sleeping, exercising, and socializing...do you have enough hours in the week?
