Check Out New Observatory and "Lifted" Web Pages

Two pages on the college's web site have received makeovers. Webmaster Kevin Murphy recently updated the Jack C. Davis Observatory and "Lifted" at Sedway Café pages to make them easier to manage, add features that weren't available before, and match the consistent look of the other new college web pages.
