Local Workforce Challenges

Manufacturing industries are expanding and relocating to northern Nevada at unprecedented rates, making manufacturing our third largest industry sector, and a key area of focus for Nevada's Economic Development Plan. Nationally, manufacturing demands 3.5 million new jobs in the U.S., and due to skill gaps two million will go unfilled. Our region's job growth will far exceed the available labor pool in the coming years. WNC is key to educating a new workforce to bridge this gap. The college is committed to meeting the needs of Sierra Region by working with local employers to produce a pool of certified candidates while providing training opportunities that keep current employees on top of their game.

A Hole in One!

Funding Students' Future

Funds from the tournament support students who struggle financially to complete WNC's highly acclaimed Jump Start College manufacturing program. The program enables students to earn 24 college credits and industry credentials while still in high school. WNC's new manufacturing hub at Silver Stage High School delivers just what the economy needs: technical education for rural high school students who are ready to receive the necessary training to enter a job-ready workforce!

The program delivers highly marketable manufacturing skills to students in a traditionally low-income area, making this program life-changing to students who are now eligible for opportunities with employers like Tesla, Panasonic and Clickbond. Panasonic visited the hub this spring, interviewed students and offered many of them full-time employment following graduation.
